MAD: Network fails

THREE SIGNAL
CRASH

By NEIL FETHERSTON

OVER 100,000 people were affected after Three Ireland's network crashed yesterday afternoon.

Customers flooded the company's Twitter page with complaints reporting loss of signal throughout the country.

The outage began at around 1pm yesterday afternoon.

Quickly

"We're aware of the situation and our engineers are working to resolve it as quickly as possible," a spokesperson said.

It is estimated that the problem is affecting five to six per cent of its customers.

In April, the Three network crashed for customers nationwide after an electrical failure at a data centre.
