IRELAND'S SOCCER SHAME

STANAIN'T

THE MAN

By GERALDINE COMISKEY

ANGRY fans last night called for Steve Staunton to be sacked following Ireland's humiliating 5-2 thrashing by Cyprus.

The Green Army flooded websites with furious demands for Stan's head after our Euro 2008 shame.

One supporter said: "We were promised a good manager and look what we got instead." Pundit Eamon Dunphy stormed: "Staunton looks like a man completely out of his depth."

Yesterday the team cancelled training to have a "frank" discussion about their failure. And fans were due to protest at Dublin Airport last night when the players flew in from Cyprus.
